"Seniors at last!" was the thought of the members of the Class of '81 when they entered South in August, but few of the individuals realized the expense and the decisions that went with the hard-earned title. There were senior pictures, announcements, graduation gowns, class night, and a senior trip to pay for as well as vocational, college, and athletic decisions to be made. There were credits to be checked and last minute classes to be taken as well as officers to be elected, money to be raised, class trip locations to be selected, and class night plans to be made. Being a senior was not quite as easy as it seemed, but the class elected good officers and everything was soon running smoothly. Money for class activities was raised with the sale of M&M's and the packing and distributing of what seemed like tons of fresh fruit from Florida. The class trip was schedules for Cedar Point and before long the final decisions of a class flower and motto were made. Being a senior really was quite easy when the officers did their best. When asked if he thought that the senior class officers accomplished their goals, Carlton Daniels replied, "At the beginning of the school year, we knew that there would be expenditures that would have to be overcome and we came out comfortably on top."

This year's Student Council has been BUSY-BUSY-BUSY. They started out the year with a flashlight pep rally at the City Hall Plaza where the Homecoming Queens were announced. The Homecoming festivities were then continued on game day when Student Council sponsored the traditional Mobile Parade through the down town area, concluding at the stadium just prior to the game. After Homecoming was over, the Council had a number of dances that went very well. In the second week of December, the Candy Cane Sale began which was followed by Santa's big entrance on the final day of school before Christmas vacation. The carnation sale was a great success and it gave the Council all the enthusiasm that they needed to host the Winter WOL Student Council Conference which was held here at South on March 4, 1981. Along with all these special events, the Student Council continued to deal with various school problems and the officers, as student spokesmen, met throughout the year with Mr. Wright and as members of the Principal's Council.

WE OFFER THE RIGHT TO READ

The library club boasted 43 student members who actively participated in the operation of the library. These library aides learned many aspects of library service such as how to circulate books, how to keep the collection in order, how to assist with reference, how to process periodicals, and how to operate the audio-visual equipment. They also learned how to raise money and how to spend it wisely. This year the club was able to present more than $1000 worth of equipment to the school a white oak contemporary paperback rack, two Singer Instaload filmstrip and tape machines, two hand crafted white oak check out counters for the new library, and a small filmstrip projector. The 1980-81 year was highlighted by several memorable events including the Rededication in October when thousands of citizens streamed through the library, the annual Christmas breakfast for the faculty and staff, the spring Yearbook Festival which brought to life the early years of our school, and an old fashioned ice cream social and new book show. These projects brought the club members together in a spirit of friendship and in a spirit of appreciation for our library, our school, and its heritage.

PRACTICE, PIZZA, PERFORMANCE

The South High School Band was a very active group off the field as well as on the field and in concert halls. They worked from Band Camp in August through the Band Banquet in May and then dressed one more time for the Memorial Day parade after the seniors had already graduated. They gave concerts and practiced, practiced, practiced. The band was such a popular group this year that the band parents had to order more uniforms for both Marching Band and Concert Band as more and more students wanted to be a part of these musical groups. In order to pay for the new uniforms, the dedicated band members and their parents sold, made, and distributed pizzas. It was a lot of hard work but when they were ready for a performance, everyone was glad that they had worked hard. Satisfaction in a job well done is worth all of the effort that is needed to achieve it.

"SINGING TO THE WORLD"

What would a program be without music? What would a school be without a song to hum through class? Life would not be the same without music and thus the choirs are important at South. Not only do they perform at school-oriented activities, they also perform for various organizations outside the school. They practice very hard for their programs and develope a feeling of harmony and togetherness. "We learned to work together and through our work, we achieved an excellent rating at contest," said Joanna Shorpshire, the choir president. Mrs. Marshall really is proud of the all the choirs that she stages. "I enjoy working with young people and performing groups," said Mrs. Marshall. Even though practices are long and hard, almost everyone enjoys the satisfaction of the final performance. "I feel that choir is important because it gives us an opportunity to meet new people and to perform in front of audiences," said Becky Plant, a member of the choir. After all, choir members just 'can't stop the music.'

From selling balloons to singing the fight song, the junior boosters gave it their all. They always added lots of pep, plenty of spirit, and tons of pride to game days at South High School. "We've got spirit; yes, we do. We've got spirit; how 'bout you?" was the familiar challenge of the junior boosters to the senior boosters right down the hall. Even when the seniors were beating them (again) in their annual basketball game, the juniors still came on strong with their booster spirit. President Becky Plant, Vice-President Bud Mongold, Secretary Cindy Schwartz, and Treasurer Vinita Wallace led the boosters in promoting school spirit. Becky Plant stated, "I think Junior Boosters is a great organization for anyone to belong to. It helps to promote school spirit and helps you to develop your inner self."

NUMBER 1 SPIRIT BOOSTERS

Strange things happen on the third floor of South High and Room 306 always seems to be the center of many unusual activities. Beginning in the fall and going throughout the year, students walking down the hall on game day were often confronted with towering seniors dressed in school color who demanded, "Where's your gold and blue?" These strange individuals also tried to convince people that they simply could not live without a yellow crying towl or a homecoming dance ticket. Behind these sales people were more unique individuals who remained in Room 306 making decorations for the Homecoming Dance or sorting props for the Macho Man contest. Frequently this group would also burst into a spirited cheer or a melody of love songs for Valentine's Day. They were totally unique and they were very special to Mrs. Deem, their adviser, and to South. Who was this strange group that dominated the third floor south and spilled out into the entire school with their enthusiasm and support? They were the SENIOR BOOSTERS, number one spirit group at South.

"Welcome to South"..."My name is Terri"..."Wildcats want a victory"..."We don't need no music"...were frequently heard at football and basketball games whenever members of the P.R. Club and Willie's Fan Club were around. P.R. Club was a fairly new organization which met and welcomed visiting players, fans, and cheerleaders to South before each game. Terri Estes, a member of the P.R. Club said,"P.R. Club is fun and exciting because you get to meet people from different schools." The club was a great success this year under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Deem and Mr. Bob Kugler, who was given a plaque at the end of basketball season for the time and devotion he gave to the club. One of the most spirited groups at South was Willie's Fan Club, made up of young men and women who supported the athletes and coaches of South High School. In doing this they attended all home and away games, wearing club shirts to signify that they were a special group. It's been said many times by team members, coaches, and parents that the Fan Club with their spirit and enthusiasm pulled the teams through many tough games.

DOING A JOB

In every busy office there are hundreds of little jobs that need to be done. Taking messages to teachers, answering phones, running off tests and work sheets, delivering projectors and A-V materials to classrooms, and helping out when ever and where ever a job needed to be done were just some of the jobs taken care of by the office aides and the A-V assistants at South. Mr. Wright felt that this year's aides were very dependable and Mr. Barrett acclaimed his A-V aides as good workers who quickly learned to work with the new equipment. Throughout the office complex, secretaries and administrators agreed that the aides were indispensible to the smooth running of the school. Mrs. Warren, who worked very closely with the student aides, stated that it would be hard to run the office without the assistance of the student workers and Mr. Roger Baker stated, "I have found the office aides most co-operative and capale of doing a real business-like job for us."

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE

Not all the clubs at South are spirit and fun oriented. Future Business Leaders and Future Homemakers of America are both organizations that are directly related to subjects that students take in school and possible to careers that they will follow after graduation. FBL was a small group this year that basically looked into the career possibilities offered in their chosen field of business. FHA, on the other hand, was a large organization that actively participated in many of the activities that are directly related to future job opportunities. They began their year by making and selling school pennants and then went on to participate in Mock Weddings and Pre-School Day Care. The final project for the FHA was the selling of green ribbons in memory of the slain children in Atlanta, Georgia. Both groups offered their members a chance to take a first hand look at possible career choices.

The German, English, and Spanish Clubs are made up of students from South who are especially interested in these subjects. Although the English Club was not active this year, they had a large number of members and they are hoping that next year they will have an opportunity to become involved in more projects. The German Club became very visible second semester when they once again sold their delicious German Chocolate candy bars. In the spring the club took a special field trip to German Village in Columbus where they sampled native foods and visited German museums and gift shops. The big event for the Spanish Club was their annual"Fiesta" complete with Spanish food and games for all. When interviewed, each of the advisers had different feelings about the activities of the clubs this year. Mr. Alzner, German Club adviser, felt that this year was one of the best for his group but Mr. Wilson was disappointed in his English Club memberships' lack of participation. Mrs. Braun spoke highly of the Spanish Club, stating that they were a strong group which had stayed active through the bad times as well as the good.

REACHING OUT

Tri S and the Black Awareness Club were organizations at South which were dedicated to helping others. Tri S, a group of students who were concerned with spiritual service to their school and to their friends had several programs this year where local ministers were guest speakers. They also had impromptu discussions with local community leaders who had offered their lives to the service of others. The Black Awareness Club was a newly formed group which was concerned with the contributions of the Black Community. Beginning a very active year, the group held a Mr. and Miss Black Awareness contest which was won by Marvin Day and Kim Roe. During Black History week, the club sponsored the Central State Dancers in a program which featured Billy Day, a recent graduate of South, who was a solo dancer. To culminate the year, the Black Awareness Club combined its talents with the members of Student Council to . present a memorial service for the slain children of Atlanta Georgia. For both groups it was a busy but rewarding year of offering service to others.

WHAT A WAY TO DEVELOP SKILLS

3

Each group or organization at South offered its members an opportunity to demonstrate their special skills or talents. The Math Club, under the supervision of Ms. Anne Robinson, put their mathmetical skills to work in a way that promoted spirit and performed a school service. They took charge of the selling of programs at all football and basketball games. The Chess Club, on the other hand, offered its members an opportunity to test and to improve their individual skill at the game of chess. Under the directions of Mr. Whitt and president Thong Tran, the members held tournaments throughtout the school year. The Industrial Arts group, under the guidance of Mr. Crew, are not really a structured group, but who could doubt their skills when they proudly displayed the furniture they had created in their class. Almost everyone looked with envy at the roll-top desk and wood crafted tables that have been created by some of these young men. There are many types of talents and each student had an opportunity to develop his or hers.

LEARNING BY DOING

The Joint Vocational School is a "learning by doing" auxillary high school that offers functional and practical vocational programs. In specialized shops and laboratories, students develop the skills, understanding, and positive attitudes needed to obtain good jobs and to succeed in the world of work. Although the JVS student is still registered in his home high school and may participate in extracurricular activities there, he or she spends six hours a day in classes at the vocational school with an emphasis on laboratory experiences. The 203 South studnets, enrolled in 28 different programs ranging from auto body repair to food services, enter the world of work with a perception of what is in store for them in the future.

The students who go there even graduate from their home high school as well as from JVS. Just think, you could have your friend in dental assistant class practice on your teeth; just make sure that she has done her homework before she begins with real life patients like yourself. If you don't come out of the cosmetology class looking like Miss America, remember that the JVS student is still learning to be the best. All in all, there are a lot of opportunities for those students who participate in these programs and a lot of fun to be had while they are learning their trade. Students develop skills, understanding, and positive attitudes needed for success in the world of work.

BEHIND THE SCENES

You're sitting in a darkened theater; the music is playing; and the curtain is about to rise on the play of the year. Everyone knows who the actors and the actresses will be and there is no doubt about the director or his ability. But - did you ever wonder who was working the lights, changing scenery, making costumes, or putting on the makeup? If it wasn't for those students who take the responsibility of making sure that all these things are done on time, the drama productions would never start on time or end with the success that has become traditional at South. These invisible people are some of the most important ones in any drama department and they are very special here at South. Most of the crew belongs to or works toward joining a special organization known as the Thespian Society. Crew members are awarded points for participation in school productions and an accumulation of points makes one eligible for spring initiation into the organization. The Thespian Society of South High consists of students who share a common interest.....theater.

SOUTH STUDENTS SPEAK UP

Do you tend to get "butterflies" in your stomach when you have to speak before a group? Then the South High Speech team is the perfect place to overcome your fears and gain the confidence that you need. This club gave its members many opportunities to develop speaking skills and to gain the poise that is necessary to be a good speaker. One of the big events of this year's club was a speech contest between fifteen invited high school teams from Central Ohio. A subject was given to the speakers and each contestant had to give a speech, drawing only on the research he had done before he came to the contest. There were no notes or pre-memorized speeches in this contest. Other activities of the group included two Reader's Theaters where the participating members presented "A Raisin in the Sun" and "A Midsummer's Night's Dream". Speech club is an exciting organization which is not only for the individual who enjoys giving and listening to speeches. It is also for the person who is shy about speaking in public because it offers an excellent opportunity to overcome such fears.

"Is the Herald coming out today?" . . . "Did you make a song dedication?" . . . "Can I buy a happy ad?" . . . These were some of the questions asked during the lunch periods at South as students discussed the school paper. The Herald, a tri-weekly publication, was often the main topic of conversation around the building as students awaited the distribution of the newest edition. The ever popular happy ads and song dedications were big successes and students were always anxious to see if their name appeared in print. Editor Darryl Peal, Photographer Florence Boyd, DeeDee Lytle, Terri Castleberry, and Pam Ross attended Journalism Camp at Ball State University during the summer months in an effort to learn the latest techniques in interviewing, story writing, and picture taking. Their camp experience proved to be helpful in cementing the entire staff into a working unit and in publishing the Herald this year, for each newspaper seemed to surpass the proceeding one.

LET'S HAVE A PARTY

Despite the shouted reminders from Mrs. Field, the "how could this be the day already" deadlines, and students with little publications experience, the Wildcat staff learned quickly and "got it all together" so that they mailed the last pages of the 1981 Wildcat to Taylor Publishing Company in time to meet the final deadline. It had been a different year with lots of parties, lots of "extra" drill team and cheerleader practices, lots of Student Council problems, and many discussions about boys and soap operas and boys and somehow in spite of all the confusion we worked together and did a good job. We shared the weariness which came from selling adds and taking underclass pictures, the confusion of identifying 700 photos with no names, and the joy of knowing we had done a good job. We were a team and our 1981 yearbook was our victory.

RUNNING

AGAINST TIME

Completing in cross country is truly an exercise in self-discipline. For those dedicated runners who are members of the team, it means running in the afternoon until you feel that you can't take another step and then running a couple more miles just to build your endurance. It means getting to the course early, running even if you already have blisters on your feet, and then crossing the finish line with few spectators to applaude your efforts. But to the dedicated runners, it's all worthwhile. Although the cross country team had a rough season, two new records were set by our top male and female runners. Geri Frazee, set a new girl's record of 18:52 in the Beavercreek Meet and David Chapman, who was a true leader, gave a 100% team effort as he set a new record on the "wood" course. With a time of 13:39 in the city meet, David felt that "he did great" and he was proud of his running season.

Bump, Set, Spike

Every day the Wildkittens started off their volleyball practice with a drill called "Bump, Set, Spike." This drill taught the players to work as a team to cover the court and to go after the ball where ever it might be. From a good practice program, it was easy to carry the techniques to the court and into an actual game. "Our biggest problem this year was our lack of experience, but we learned to work together as a team," said Jamie Jones, senior members of the Wildkittens 1980 Volleyball team. "Volleyball is an all-out effort of everyone. One person can't play the whole court by themselves. They need the help and support of every player," stated Dawn Oliver. Although the 1980 Volleyball team did not have a very successful year, the Wildkittens played by the following rule, "Whether you win or lose the match, if you have done the best that you could and given it everything that you had, you were a winner."

SWINGING INTO ACTION

The golf team swung into action this year with the anticipation that this would be a better year for winning. As one of the smallest sport's groups at South, this five man team played individually but compiled their record as a team. Under the leadership of senior Bret Kugler, the golf team won eight of its matches and a pleased Coach Jim Moyers steted that this year's team did show an over-all improvement. Coach Moyers felt that his team was handicapped by lack of pre-high school experience and little team practice before the early fall season began but he felt that the team members worked hard and did well finishing ninth in the WOL. When asked how he had enjoyed his participation on the golf team, three year member Bret Kugler said, "My experience in golf was a good one because we had a good coach. Although we didn't win many matches, Coach Moyers kept encouraging us. We were a small group, but everyone on the team developed a friendship for each other and we all got along well." That is essential to a team where individuals must participate on their own, for without a feeling of togetherness, little can be accomplished.

ANOTHER ONE BIT THE DUST

The 1980 South High football team had a great season with a final record of 6-3-1 and their opponents soon learned to fear the wrath of the "Mighty Wildcats." Even though it was a season plagued by rainy nights and muddy fields, it was filled with exciting pass plays, long yardage runs, and good defense. It was a season that excited fans and pleased coaches and players. Senior center Darryl Peal stated that "the team worked well as a whole." He said, "As a player, I never felt like I was alone on the field. I always knew I could count on my team mates and I really enjoyed the season." Senior half-back Tim Lewis seemed to sum up the feelings of many of the players when he said, "I would have liked to have had more opportunities to have been a greater help to the team." This is the spirit that creates a good team and the spirit that built a winning Wildcat team, a team that caused their opponents to "bite the dust."

PEOPLE BEHIND THE SCENES

Most fans thought only about the players and the score when they went to the football games. They generally neglected to think about the people who went unnoticed but definately made things happen for without the assistant coaches, the trainers, and the statistions there would have been a large void in any team organization. These people were very dedicated and were really appreciated by both players and coaches as they helped to make things run smoothly each Friday night. Rae Jean Casey, a statistion, said she felt she had really learning a lot about football. By being on the sideline, Rae felt that she was a part of the team and that she now had a different outlook on the game. Harry Daniels, an offensive guard, who was injured in an early scrimmage game, flet that he had left the team down. He also said it wasn't easy for him to watch the game from the sideline. Coach Hannon stated that although he would like to see more confidence among the players, he was proud of the team.

FEET MARCHING TO THE BEAT

"We are the Marching Wildcats!" This year the band did a good job of entertaining us during the half-time shows. Without certain people the band would never have done as well as it did. "The band has a lot of depth, and I enjoyed being a part of it," said Dave Spurgeon, the Drum Major. "I enjoyed being band president very much because it was a challenging and fulfilling experience," said Latonya Pritchet, the Band President. "I was very pleased with the band this year. They performed difficult maneuvers and music very well in most cases," said Mr. Vrooman, the Director of the Band. After all, SHS has the 'baddest band from East to West!'

HOT STUFF

The 1980-1981 South High Drill Team did a great job performing for the Wildcat fans during half time at the football games. Tami Thornton, captain of the team; Cathy Woods, assistant captain; and Vicki Wright, first lieutenant; worked together to lead this group and pull them together into a single unit that thought alike and moved together on the football field. It took a lot of work, practice nearly every afternoon, to learn the many routines and to be assured that when the music began, every step would be synchronized and every smile would be "genuine". However, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Saylers and with the determination of the members, the SHS drill team was always a hit at the football games.

B-E-A-T Beat You

It was a new sports' year and SHS had six new cheerleaders and a new advisor which could have spelled DISASTER. However, the summer was a time for "getting it all together" and by the time camp was over, the whole group had experience and confidence. At camp this summer, the 1980-1981 cheerleaders were awarded Most Talented Squad, Super Squad, Most Spirited Squad, and second place overall. When asked what her most satisfying experience as a cheerleader was, Dee Dee Lytle replied, "Finally getting my Split Russian without hurting my ankles." The SHS cheerleaders were at the games supporting our team rain or shine, and this year especially rain, as South's last three football games were played in pouring rain. When asked how she felt about cheering in the rain, Laverne Hampton replied, "I felt that if the football team could play in the rain, we could cheer in the rain."

WE GOT THE SPIRIT

"The team was happy with the support," said Miss Mary Miller when asked about the fans' support of the 1980 football team. "It was a very positive influence," she said. This year's fans were the most spirited ever. Their enthusiasm helped the team through some rough times. Even when the weather was cold, wet, and rainy, the fans cheered the team to victory Friday night after Friday night. The devoted student and faculty fans deserve much praise for their continuous support. Neither "rain nor snow nor dark of night" stopped Willie's Fan Club from their appointed duty of supporting the team from the beginning of the game to the end. "We supported the team and the individual members to the best of our ability even when the weather seemed to be against us," said Cyndi Davis. This year's Fan Club was one of the biggest South has ever had. The Fan Club, with the help of the advisors and the squad leaders, always seemed to make a difference in the spirit of the crowd.

PIN YOUR MAN

Wrestling is more of an individual competition than a team sport for once the whistle is blown, each man is on his own against his opponent. The idea of pinning an opponent's shoulders to the mat is easy when a wrestler is working out his strategy in his mind but the feat becomes more difficult in reality when one comes face to face with the wrestler of the opposing team. A good wrestler learns to counteract and to out think his opponent which is what the sport is really all about and where his skill is really tested. There were only a few wretlers at South this year who really did an outstanding job and gave 100% effort to the team in the opinion of Coach Larry Jones. he believed that because of eligibility problems and lack of determination on the part of some of the participates, the team was at a definite disadvantage because they were often unable to complete all of their weight classes which consisted of thirteen wrestlers on the team. By the end of the season there were only seven members left in competition and although Coach Jones was disappointed by this showing, he was proud of the individual scores of the remaining seven team members. Kerby Gaffney was outstanding as a senior as he completed his season with 16 wins and only 5 losses in the 105 pound classification. Coach Jones also complimented Captains Kerby Gaffney and Joe Petticrew for this hard work and the good examples that they set for the other team members.

CATS TAKE TOP HONORS

"I am very proud of this year's team. They put their all into every game and we finished the season with a much better record than any of the coaches expected," stated Coach Wayne Wiseman about his 15-6 winning Wildcat team. Along with reserve Coach Duane Baker and Sophomore Coach Mike Rodgers, Coach Wiseman felt that the team was "a great bunch of guys," and all of the coaches were extremely pleased with the team's WOL co-Championship. Individual honors also were received by members of the 1980-81 Wildcats as Trev Waker was named All-County MVP, District 9 Co-MVP, Dayton — All-Star, Midwest All-Star, All-District - 2nd. Team, WOL - 1st. team, All-State - Honorable Mention, and Clark County Mr. Basketball. Pepper Bego was named to the All-County team and the WOL 3rd. team while Steve Morgan was awarded WOL Honorable Mention. The Cats displayed their talents from the beginning of the season to the end. When asked how he felt about the season, senior LeRoy Hill replied, "I was pleased with the team as a whole and although our lose to Sidney in the tournament was a disappointment, we gave it our best all season."

WILDCAT GIANT KILLERS

They didn't look much like a basketball team when they came out on the floor. All of the players were too short to really play round ball and one player was almost too skinny and another wore space-age goggles. However, when the first center throw was made and the clock began to tick, the five Wildcats on the floor played like a team of giants. Speed was their game and many opposing teams never saw the quick moves that set up the winning baskets for the Cats. The "skinny kid" was known as the 'Ice Man' and he could do it all. With his left handed shots, Trev led the 1980-81 Wildcats and nightly earned his title of Captain. The kid with the "space-age" goggles was the play maker and nobody could move the ball with the grace and ease of Scott Thomas. With the shooting of Pepper Bego and the defense of Corky Daniels there was little that the Cats couldn't do. Any rough edges were rounded off by Steve Morgan, Keith Morgan, Brian Long, and LeRoy Hill and there were few nights that the Wildcats didn't thrill the fans and score the points. It was a good year filled with last minute wins and a special 20 point victory over rival North.

"WE DON'T NEED NO MUSIC"

Screaming, cheering, jumping, and giving up hours in the summer, after school, and on week-ends just to learn one cheer was just the beginning of being a cheerleader. Nervously waiting for game day and then leeding a pep rally in the morning, riding a bus in the afternoon, and hopefully cheering the team to victory at night made a full day for any student and especially for a cheerleader. Being a cheerleader was not always a glamour job...sometimes it was a hot gym, sweat, and a sagging hair style; sometimes it was the tears of defeat instead of the smiles of victory, but it was always spirit and laughter. It was the excitement of watching the team pull ahead or score that last-moment winning basket or starting a cheer and suddenly finding that the Fan Club and the spectators were "raising the roof" with the cheer you started. Being a cheerleader is an exciting experience which is important to the individual girl, to the team, to the coaches, and to the spectators.

Willie's Fan Club and the Pep Band got their beat together and cheered the Wildcats on to many victories. Willie's Fan Club was made up of male and female students from the student body, any student who had lots of spirit and energy as well as a dedication to the spectator sports. The members attended all the home and away games, backed the team with spirit and noise, and promoted good sportsmanship. Pep Band, which was another important part of the Fans-In-The-Stands, sounded off to a great season also. Pep Band was made up of members of the Marching Band who were chosen for this special group and was led by student directors, Kim Wipert and Judy Green. The Pep Band performed at all of the home games and morning pep rallies as well as often ending the day with the Wildcat Fight Song. Without the Fan Club and the Pep Band, South's games would never have been quite the same. So when the Pep Band and Willie's Fan Club got their beat together, you knew the Wildcats were on the way to another V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!

The 1980-81 season was the year for the Wildkittens. With most of their starters from last year coming back, the Wildkittens went 16-5 for the season and 8-1 in the league to capture their first WOL championship. The "good times" didn't end there as the Wildkittens also beat arch-rival North 56-47 for the first time since girls' basketball began at South, thus becoming the 1980-81 City Champs. Mr. Copeland felt the girls had a better ball team than in the past. He also stated that he was very pleased about being WOL Champs and he felt the girls deserved the honors they received for all their hardwork. Karen Hargrow felt that being WOL Champs was one way to promote spectator support for the girls' athletic program at South. Rochelle Woods was happy about the season and felt it was a great accomplishment to beat North. Four of the Wildkittens received special league honors this year as Karen Hargrow and Kim Frambo were voted First Team WOL and Rose Patton and Rochelle Woods received honorable mention.

GRACE AND AGILITY

With an appearance of grace and ease the girls of the gymnastic team competed in all the events of each meet. Whether they sailed through the air in an attempt to perform a difficult vault or balanced delicately as they danced on the balance beam. the gymnastists worked with such ease that few spectators ever realized the many hours of hard work that went behind each performance. As the individual girls daftly glided over and around the uneven bars, it was never apparent that they had undergone weeks of bruises and strains to master their particular skill. Even in the free exercise routines, the girls showed only poise and gaility as they moved through the difficult patterns of tumbling and dancing to complete their routines. To the viewer, gymnastics was a sport of beauty; it was graceful and the participants were agile but to the girls who competed in this particular sport, it was many hours of hard work, many feet of tape around strained muscles, and many tubs of cold water for soaking sore muscles. However, it was always worthwhile to the members of the gymnastics team. It was the excitement of individual competition and the fellowship of team participation.

BETTER THAN EVER

It was an exciting season for South's men's gymnastics team who finished its best season ever with a 7-1 record. After many hours of practice, a few blisters, and a sore muscle here and there, the members of the team agreed that it had all been worthwhile. They had completed the year by placing 3rd. in the W.O.L. and finished 2nd. in the regionals which gave them their first major trophy. When asked for his personal feelings about the '8081 season, Co-Captain Chris Haggy stated, "It felt great to come in second. It was an exciting and happy day for all of us." Kevin Wright, another member of the team, stated, "Winning gave me and the rest of the team, one of the greatest feelings of accomplishment I've ever had. It was worth all the hard work."

YOU'RE OUT!

Although the baseball team at South High School was not supported by fans as avidly as some of the other sports it still managed to represent the school honorably. The members of the team played with great pride and enthusiasm in spite of the many weather-cancelled games and numerous attempts at re-scheduling. When asked how he felt the baseball team was as a whole, Pepper Bego replied, "I felt the players did their best but somehow they didn't seem to be able to put their talents together to make a winning combination." The team showed much aggressiveness but it seemed that the hits just wouldn't come together to create a winning score. Keith Morgan was chosen as Most Valuable Player for the year and he will be returning next year to help lead the '82 team. With only three graduating seniors, the members of the baseball team are looking forward to a bright new beginning in the spring of 1982.

GREAT WAYS TO HAVE FUN IN SPORTS

What do you do if you are really interested in sports but due to a job or special studies, you just don't have time to participate in a formal team program? Well, at South you can enter into athletic competition through the intramural program and experience all the "thrills of victory and the agonies of defeat." Under the direction of Mr. Jim Moyers, intramural's director, students may participate on an individual bases in various sports before or after school. Young men and young women are given an opportunity to compete in tournaments of ping-pong, bowling, and free-throw shooting. At the end of the year winners are named, trophies are presented, and often challenges are made. This year Assistant Principal Ross Barrett challenged the champion ping-pong player and Pepper Bego, leading free-throw shooter from the varsity basketball team, challenged the champion free-throw shooter. All in all intramurals was the perfect way to join in the excitement of competition.

SOUTH HITS HARD TIMES

The new softball field was almost finished; Mr. Meister with the help of Ms. Reno had all the coaching strategy planned; and the returning lettermen had all the necessary skills. It should have been a good year for the girls in gold and blue but the road to victory was rocky....the first day on the new practice field was just the beginning of a season plagued with problems. The pitcher's mound was built on top of "boulder" size gravel and it didn't take long to realize that steady footing was going to be almost impossible. The baseline between second and third base was the location of an uncovered sprinkler and slides had to be taken out of the practice game. Then the rains came and among the mounting problems were muddy infields, swampy weed-covered outfields, and weather cancelled games. Add a few injuries to key players and the jinx became complete. It was almost as if the gods were playing against the Wild Kittens. They allowed the girls a feeling of friendship that offered a taste of victory but they placed the winning score just beyond their reach and gave the Wild Kittens a season that was truly rocky.

The Boys' Track Team did not wait until the sound of the gun to start their season. It began in December, weeks before the track meets actually began, as they jumped hurdles in the halls and jogged around the building to get in shape. They worked hard and got positive results as this year was a winning one. The season started off with five indoor meets, which was a new experience for the team. Placing 4th. in the Richmond Relays was just the beginning as the team went on to place in other meets such as the Tecumseh Invitational - 1st., the Dayton Relays - 3rd., the Wayne Relays - 2nd., the Miami Relays and Invitational - 2nd., and the Fulton Relays 5th. The team made up of 23 determined young men found that hard work paid off when they won the Sectionals and then went on to become WOL Champs at the meet held at Evans Stadium at Springfield.

RUN FOR THE WIRE

It seemed so easy and graceful when viewed from the stands but down on the track it was a different matter. When the girls lined up waiting for the starting gun, few spectators imagined the pounding of the hearts or the straining of the muscles that the girls experienced as they tensed for the grueling task ahead of them. In only a few moments the race ws over and all the months of hard work was behind the participants. . . . only one was the winner and all the others looked ahead to the next meet with the hope that the next time would be the time for them. This year South's girls were strongest in the sprints and the relays and the team as a whole placed 2nd. in the Wayne Relays, 6th. in the Dunn Memorial, and 4th. in the WOL. This year's Most Valuable Runner was senior Alicia Ervin and Mr. Copeland, girls' coach, said that she would definitely be missed next year. However, many of the members of the 1981 track team were underclassmen and will be returning next year to participate on the 1982 track team.

DUECE

The tennis team smashed into action this year with new tennis courts and an opportunity to practice at the school instead of car-pooling to the park everyday to get practice time. Brian Roberts, who has played the first single's position for the past three years, felt that the tennis team had its good days as well as its bad ones, but he enjoyed playing the game. Although the tennis team consisted of only eleven individuals, the squad actually played in three different sections: singles, doubles, and reverses. This meant that with the shortage of team members, many of the participating individuals had to double-up and often play several matches at each meet. As the first singles player, Brian Roberts said, "It meant that I had to face the opposing school's top player in each match and some of the individual players were really good." Other singles players were Phil Goltzene and John Warren. Doubles consists of two team members who worked together to defeat the opposition and this was the one area of the sport where South went co-ed as both of our doubles teams consisted of male-female pairings. The doubles players were Robin Crabtree, Andy Rose, Melissa Everingham, and Bud Mongold. "Practice was a lot better this year,"stated Brian Roberts, "as we could get in a lot of extra practice time with the new courts right outside the building. Tennis is still a lot of work as it is a year round effort to stay in shape, but in the end, all the time and effort seems worthwhile when you win the big match."

Congratulations
Class of '81

567 East Pleasant 325-0436

One of the last big athletic events of the year is the annual Awards Night where all athletes and their parents are honored for the dedication and time they have given to their individual sports throughout the year. This was a special night as Bucky Walters, Athletic Director at South for almost two decades, was retiring and much of the program was dedicated to saying "thanks for a job well done." The traditional gold sports jacket was an honor for Bucky but the real surprise came when Principal John Wright announced that the new girls' gym was officially being named the "Bucky Walters Gymnasium." Although Mr. Walters was the center of much attention, he graciously shared his spotlight with the many young athletes who were honored on this special evening. Included in the awards being presented by the various coaches were the Most Valuable Players in each sport. These awards were Football Charlie Dunn, Boys Cross Country - David Chapman, Girls Cross Country - Geri Frazee, Volleyball Jamie Jones, Golf - Bret Kugler, Boys Basketball - Trev Waker, Girls Basketball - Karon Hargrow, Girls Gymnastics - Lisa Powley, Boys Gymnastics - Chris Haggy, Wrestling - Kerry Gaffney, Baseball - Keith Morgan, Softball - Tracy Jones, Tennis - Brian Roberts, Girls Track - Alicia Ervin, Boys Track Charlies Dunn.

FIRST TIME

Sophomore Orientation was held in Tiffany Gym about a week before the start of school. It was hot as always and the minutes tended to drag into what seemed like hours as Mr. Wright, principal, and Mr. Barrett, Mr. Crumley, and Mr. Baker, assistant principals, gave informal talks about the rules, regulations, and school policies that the new sophomores would be faced with, in the coming year. After the "talks" were completed, schedules were passed out and the students were officially members of the SHS student body. As parents tried to help figure out the agenda for the upcoming school year, students tried to find friends and former classmates to compare class schedules and homeroom assignments in the hopes that there would be a familiar face in each class when school started in late August. As a conclusion to this evening of introductions, the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of South gave informal tours of the building to both students and parents. It was just the beginning, but it was an important night because it meant that school was about to begin and the Class of 1983 was now a part of South High School.

October, 1980, Rededication and Open House marked the completion of the last Issue One project, South High School. The graduating class of '81 was very proud to be the first class to graduate from the new South High School. Some members of the senior class stated, "We've come a long way from the conditions we found as sophomores at South." "In the fall of the year 1980 we give thanks for and celebrate this community's continued desire for educational and artistic progress as exemplified by this building that is without equal," stated Dr. Robert H. Lehman, in the South High School Rededication and Open House Program. When asked how has your experiance changed since you've been working in the new building, Mr. Wright stated, "There's been much less vandalism; the students are taking better care of the building; and I have been more involved in visitations of the school. Also with the new gym facilities I have been more involved with public use of the building." Darin Johnson, a student at South, summed up the experience for most of the student body, "Rededication was a special event; I will never forget it. It was a moment in history."

The time was the week before Homecoming; the place was the plaza of the City Hall building; and the event was the naming of the top ten candidates for Homecoming Queen. It was just the beginning of an exciting week of pre-game preparations that included the final choice of five girls who would make up the homecoming court; the difficult selection of five men to escort the queens; and the demanding task of picking just the right outfit for the game and for the dance. The excitement built as the week progressed until the festivities actually began with the drumbeat of the marching band which led a pre-game parade from the school to the football field. The final step was the homecoming dance and seeing who would be named the new Queen of Queens.

Homecoming is a time for all alumni to return and once again be a part of South. It also is one of the most exciting events of the year, which this year included the Flashlight Pep Rally at City Hall. This was a special evening because it was the night when the top five Homecoming Queens were announced. When asked how she felt that evening, Melissa Rowland replied, "I was shocked and honored that my classmates would choose me." Despite the dreary weather at the Homecoming football game, the queens looked their best. The Grand Finale of the Homecoming weekend was the Homecoming Dance where the Queen of Queens was chosen. Joanna Shropshire had the honor and pleasure of becoming the Queen of Queens and her court consisted of Donna Swain, Marsha Mills, Melissa Rowland, and Jackie Jackson. The Queen of Queens received a crown and along with the other members of the court, a bracelet presented by Student Council. The Homecoming Dance was a special night for all who attended.

On the night of October 31, 1981, at about 12:30 A.M., Steve Young crept into the South High Auditorium as he played the role of "young Frankenstein" in this yeer's Halloween play. The scerey events of "FRANKENSTEIN" kept the audience tied to their seats, and the fact that most of the audience had just returned from the local Haunted House, where they saw some of the scariest faces ever, seemed to help the haunted and eerie atmosphere that prevailed throughout South that evening. Latonya Pritchet, a member of the cast, said, "FRANKENSTEIN was one of the most fascinating plays I have ever been a part of." Student director Kathy Whitt said, "Working with this group was a great experience." As the bewitching evening finally drew to a close, the student body felt that the play was a credit to Halloween and the cast was hauntingly good.

TOO MUCH CHRISTMAS

The mini-theater was the place and the season was Christmas as the students of the drama department prepared to present a one-act play for the holiday enjoyment of the student body. Juanita Johnson, who played the part of Alice, stated, "It was a good show and I enjoyed being a part of it."Although rehearsals had been a problem as the individual acts had to set their own schedules to work out their parts, by the time the first curtain went up, everything had been worked out and the show met the high standards set by the SHS Drama Department. Terry Phillips, who portrayed John, stated, "I think the Christmas play was a success because almost everyone enjoyed it," and Carl Wilson, who played Arnold, the brother, said, "I felt that it was a good experience in acting for me." All in all, the Christmas play offered something for everyone involved.....to the actors and actresses, it was an experience to perform and to try out new roles; to the stage crew, it was a challenge to create a set that would fit the mini-theater; and to the audience, it was an entertaining and enjoyable way to begin celebrating the holidays.

Mrs. Marshall was busily rounding up everyone for vocal warm-ups and Mr. Lewis was making last minute checks to be sure everyone knew his parts. About the time of the year when many people are 'glued' to their television sets watching the crowning of various beauty queens across the country, the student body of South turns their attention to the choosing and the crowning of the Macho Man. The Macho Man of South High School is the one male choosen because of his popularity, his talents, and his ability to appear "Macho." How Macho is Macho? Well, the competition begins with a one minute disco dance routine, followed by a swim suit contest, a muscle contest, one-handed pushups, pull ups, and ankle lifts. Just to keep the contestants from becoming too Macho, the final competition consisted of timed dressings in women's clothes which had the entire audience rolling with laughter. Helping to make this 1981 Macho Man Contest a success were participants Magid Saba, Keith Morgan, Kevin Wright (crowded Macho Man), Anthony Rhodes, Darrell Johnson, Bud Mongold, Neil Thomas, Brian Roberts, Jerome Taylor, and Jim Barnett. A special thanks goes to the Senior Boosters and Mrs. Deem who organize and sponsor this event each year.

Every year the Gymnastic team and the gymkana class put together a great show which they present in late April. Each year the success of South's annual gymnastic show is dependent on the hard work of our gymnastists and their alumni and this year was no exception. Missy Rowland and Keith Echols did a fine job with the choreography of the dance numbers while Kevin Wright was instrumental in creating the dive routine. The almuni who return each year to perform added a special touch to the show and their routines were crowd pleasers throughout the show. Their presence gave inspiration to the comedy and special acts featured in the show. Although this performance takes a lot of time to prepare, it is a rewarding and fun way to end the year after the competition is completed.

"It's almost time for the curtain to go up." "I can't find my robe and I know I left it right here on this chair." "Is my tie straight or should I redo the whole thing?" "Mrs. Marshall says that it's time to do warm-ups and she really can't get started until everyone is here." These are just a few of the comments that can be hear back stage before a performance of the South High School choirs. Few people in the audience realize the last minute preparations going on behind the curtains so that the musical groups of SHS can present a quality concert for all to enjoy. The Spring Concert and the choir contest were just two of the highlights of the year for the Symphonic Choir, the Sophomore Choir and the Jazz Choir. Other activities of these groups included solo and ensemble contest, caroling in the hall of South at Christmas time, and singing for the new students and their parents at Sophomore Orientation. As if the many practice sessions and concerts were not enough to fill the time of the choir members, they also sold sausage and cheese in order to raise money for new music and other supplies needed by the group. Under the able direction of Mrs. Alice Marshall, the choirs successfully promoted the fine art of singing throughout the year.

SOUNDS OF MUSIC

Violins, cellos, flutes, clarinets, pianos, French horns, trumpets, etc. are just some of the instruments that one can find in the SHS instrumental groups. Talented people have spent many hours learning to master these difficult instruments and then put them all together to produce a harmonious sound. On special nights throughout the year the stage comes alive with the sounds of music which are performed by the various musical groups at South High School. Regardless of musical tastes, any member of an audience could find exactly what he liked as the stage band, jazz band, and orchestra presented their programs. These groups filled the air with pleasurable sounds at their concerts and the members of these musical organizations did a delightful job throughout the year, bringing wonderful sounds of music to one and all.

The highest honor a student at South High School can receive is to be inducted into the SHS chapter of the National Honor Society. To be voted into the honor society, one must be judged on scholarship, character, service, and leadership. A senior must have a 3.0 grade average plus two extracurricular activities. For a junior, one must have a 3.3 grad average plus two extracurricular activities. On April 23, nine seniors and sixteen juniors were inducted into the society. The ceremony was performed by the present seniors inducted in their junior year. The students' parents and friends were invited to the ceremony held in the auditorium and to a reception afterwards in the library. Mr. Leonard Wilson and Miss Mary Miller were the advisers of the organization and the planners of this special day.

National Honor Society membership is an honor that many students spend their three years in high school to achieve. It is an honor that is never forgotten. Academics, participation in school activities, and leadership are the keys to knowledge for many students and they are the pillars upon which National Honor Society is built. A student that is involved in his school and in his school activities is the student that wants to work harder to obtain good grades. Senior Annette Syrus stated, "I feel honored to be a member of National Honor Society since my junior year. It is an accomplishment that I am very proud of."

Prom has long been a special occasion at South as it begins the last flurry of graduation activities. Underclassmen are saddened at the thought of senior friends who will not be returning in the fall and seniors realize that the times spent with friends acquired over the past three years are quickly coming to an end. Soft music, covered tables, and a flowing punch fountain helped to set the mood at South for the Prom this year as Mr. Barrett and the members of the Student Council took over the duties of planning the gala evening. The selection of music varied throughout the evening from mellow to rock to soul, which at one time or another gave everyone a chance to get up and enjoy themselves. Together the people, the place, and the atmosphere made our senior class of 1981 appreciated the prom committee and all involved for making this "Last Dance" possible.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

It was a night when blue jeans and t-shirts were left hanging on the back of the chair and suddenly yesterday's tomboy became today's beauty queen. It was Prom Night and formals, tuxedos, corsages and boutonnieres were suddenly the "in" attire as members of the junior and senior class arrived at South for a special end-of-the-year event. Prom in the cafeteria didn't sound too exciting until the students arrived and found that the Commons area was hardly recognizable. Tables placed around the balcony above the dance floor and benches scattered across the front lawn so that couples could stroll around the campus or sit out a dance in the cool breeze of the evening made a perfect setting for the Junior-Senior Prom. It was a night filled with pleasant memories of soft music, dreamy dances and a special date.

Class Night was a recognition of our class best, not only academically but in several categories chosen by the members of the soon to be graduating calss. These peerchosen class favorites included such honors as Best Looking, Most Talented, Most Active, Class Wits and Most Devoted Couple...every senior dreamed of being one of the chosen ones. The events, with dinner and dancing, was at Ramada Inn and the elegance of the evening gave the feeling of importance to the big night. This was one of the last times all the Seniors would be together and Class Night was special because it was the beginning of the end. It was the signal that graduation was almost here and the members of the class would soon go down different paths to seek individual goals and aspirations. It was the last time to get together as students of South.

CEDAR POINT OR BUST!

It was almost time for graduation and the seniors gathered for one last week-end of fun before their high school days were complete. On Friday afternoon the '81 seniors boarded buses and headed for a funfilled week-end at Cedar Point. For the next twenty-four hours there was litle time for rest as the seniors filled their time with swimming at the Green Tree Inn where they spent Friday night, visiting the "Somewhere Else"which is a popular teenage Recreational Center in Sandusky, and enjoying the rides and shows at the park. There were so many things to do and see that once they entered the park, many of the group never saw each other again until they left. When asked if she felt her Senior Class Trip was a success, Lisa Peterson replied enthusiastically, "Yes, it was nice to get away with my fellow classmates, knowing that we will all have an enjoyable experience to remember in the future." Student Council officer, Sonya Smith said that the trip was much better than she had expected. "When we voted on where we would be going on our trip, I was disappointed when Cedar Point was chosen. So the trip was surprisingly fun for me," she said. The weekend at Cedar Point proved to be a happy memory for all the seniors who went on the trip.

Graduation was anxiously awaited by almost all seniors. On Thursday, May 28, 1981, family and friends of the graduating seniors gathered at Memorial Hall to pay tribute to all those students who had earned their high school diploma from South High School. They watched 377 seniors march to "Pomp and Circumstances.". The Invocation was given by Bret Kugler and the Senior Address was presented by Thong Tran. Speeches were also given by David Chapman and John Warren, valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1981 graduating class. The choir sang "Tomorrow" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and then the moment that everyone had been waiting for finally arrived. Signs of happiness and relief gleamed on the graduates' faces as they each received their diploma. As the "Alma Mater" was sung, the eyes of the graduates glistened with tears and the ceremony ended with the Benediction given by Joanna Shropshire.

5

Graduation is a time of happiness filled with sorrow. It is a time of parting friends, proud parents, feelings of accomplishment, and decisions about the future. For some people, it is the biggest step they will take in their whole life. But for others, it is just the first step of many. No matter what size of step it is, graduation is an important part of everyone's life. After graduating, one must step out of the sheltered life of high school into the real world. There must be many adjustments made during this time in one's life. Whether one goes to college or goes straight into the working world does not matter. The change is still there along with the feeling of growing up.

LET'S HAVE A GOOD DAY

Sometimes the walls trembled from the wrecking ball; sometimes there were no windows in the middle of winter; sometimes there were no classrooms in which to teach . . . and yet, there was always a laughing voice that started each day with a friendly coaxing, "Let's have a good day!" For four years Mr. John B. Wright, principal of South High School, kept his faculty and student body looking toward the future in spite of the major renovation going on in the building. Few individuals could have maintained a sense of humor and an atmosphere of learning while trying to cooperate with Central Office and the Board of Education, negotiate with construction personnel, and maintain an orderly school when some staff member or student was always unhappy. For this reason, among others, we, the 1981 WILDCAT staff, proudly dedicate this yearbook to Mr. John B. Wright. He has always been a dedicated principal and while he demonstrated his concern for his school, he still remained a friend of all who worked or learned within the halls of South.
